

OUR HISTORY

Dominic Tagliatella, a native of East Harlem raised by a single mother, grew up attending the Holy Rosary Parish in East Harlem. His mother, Katherine M. Tagliatella, recognized the value of education and her children's integration into and advancement within American society. She was always grateful to the Holy Rosary Parish for its understanding and support of these needs for all. After her death in 2008, having reached the milestone of 100 years of age, Dominic and his wife Sally established the Katherine M. Tagliatella Foundation with the encouragement of Ron Straci and Frank Pellegrino of Rao's Restaurant, also located in East Harlem. The Foundation embodies a living memorial to Katherine and her ideals.

ABOUT THE KMT FOUNDATION

The KMT Foundation provides need-based scholarships to Mt. Carmel-Holy Rosary School students from the single parent families.

MCHR is located in an area of East Harlem with underperforming public schools and high levels of poverty and crime. The school prides itself on viewing each student as a unique individual, guaranteeing superb educational and cultural opportunities. MCHR strives to keep tuition reasonable by charging families the low rate of $4,500 per school year even though the actual cost to annually educate a student is over $8,000.

The Katherine M. Tagliatella Foundation offers scholarships to deserving students, thereby ensuring that MCHR's academic caliber and comprehensive education is available to all children, regardless of their financial background.

In addition to scholarships, the KMT Foundation and MCHR's combined efforts have enhanced the school's art library and resources providing curriculum enhancements for students, including class field trips to Tagliatella Galleries!

"Mt. Carmel Holy Rosary School prepares me for the future because I am challenged to perform my best. The school gives me confidence to believe in myself! I am so grateful to be a part of such an amazing community."
